become a hero of a typical 90s commando movie with a shotgun in a funny platformer which is extremely easy to play: you have a full pack of weapons, including a shotgun, enemies that are located on different floors, battles in every game level where you are killing tens of enemies in a single combo with a classic shotgun, everything in a game can be exploded - barrels, cars, boxes - only 5 achievements make a game easy to get a perfect game and on top of all this - extremely cheap price. p.s. - did i mentioned a shotgun?. Great to be a part of something clearly destined to be the future of gaming. This is just the beginning of what VR can do! Not the first VR game but the benchmark.. Well, I'm normally not the one to write a review, but for this game, I'll change my normal stance.

Bare in mind that the game still is in Early Access.

Pro

Just text, no pics.

It reminds (me) of those old C64-games. Damn I'm that old already

Easy to learn, hard to master

It comes with some nice 8-bit music.

Cons

See all of the above.

Hahaha!! No, really, you'll either, like me, love this game for just being the game it is. For giving that textbased adventure-/sim-feeling of times long by. Or you'll just hate it and probably for those same reasons.. Shorter review, just to get to the point: the dev has performed complete cyber suicide and is nowhere to be found anymore. Seriously - i did some digging (wayback archive has the instruction manual) and he has 3 asmr youtube channels - all of which have had all videos removed. If you want to look for yourself then here's the archive to his website:

Viewer street works fine, mini-games are a little janky sometimes (!play doesn't always register,) but my gripe is there's no way to tell if stream buddy knows i'm live, or what it's really doing. I have tried multiple times and none of those times did the cast for 2 minutes (only achievement i was able to test) trigger. Judging by the fact that this game has never updated according to steamdb, i can only assume the IRC/API changed or whatever Stream Buddy was using to see twitch stats is no more.

I'd say completely avoid. Simply put, it isn't worth it and - if you're in it for the achievements - the only one i was able to test was broken. Requested a refund.. Seiously,

This piece of rotten crab isn't a game..

It is a physics lesson... 0/10. We always keep minority spirit.. Wow.....

.....

I played this over the 5 minute mark just to let everyone know if you want to buy this your either high or stupid.

Keep your money.. gifted it to a friend, played it, now he hates me friendship killer/10. im in 2 minds , its definitely not a finished product just yet ,but has lots of potential. The opening scene is non existent just a quick menu and other options. Initially after load up the game froze so that i could not advance just side to side. After the reboot of my system as thats how i had to stop the game it came up with a green screen on my monitor but in vr i could play it. Has a boppy music track , nice tempo which enhances the shooting .Weapons easy to use and very realistic. Looking forward to seeing how you progress with this game.....Not asking for a refund so will recommend it with the hope its fixed down the track

This is one of those games where if you start playing it, you just can't stop. You don't know why you like it, you just do.. Did not like. game is hard im bad but best game over VA. Plays like the budget version of Super Meat Boy.. Yeah this is way overpriced, but I bought it to support the amazing post-launch game support that Tripwire\Antimatter games are known for. Keep up the great work!. Surprisingly, i liked this game and it was better than i expected it to be. The combat is fun, i didn't get bored killing enemies unlike some games. There are even special abilities you can use. The game somewhat reminds me of Mass Effect. The story of this game seems to be going well. This game sounds great, looks great and plays great. I did encounter some minor bugs but nothing that causes a problem. The graphics are decent as well. All in all, the game is pretty good and i would rate it 7/10.

P.S. I have only played Single Player till now cause i couldn't find any active players. Something tells me the Multiplayer experience will be a lot better. But heck, I'll finish it in Single Player if i have to cause it's totally worth it.
